

UPI/Online Payment Fraud

UPI fraud is something that happens to people who use payment applications. For example a college student named Rohit got a call from someone who said they were a bank official. This person told Rohit that his bank account would be blocked if he did not do a verification process away.

Rohit believed this person so he did what they said. The person who called him sent a payment request. Told him to put in his UPI PIN to get a refund.. Instead of getting money some money was taken out of his account. In a few minutes Rohit lost a lot of money.

This kind of thing usually happens in a steps. First the bad person pretends to be someone you can trust to make you feel safe. Then they make you feel like you have to do something away. Finally they trick you into putting in your UPI PIN or clicking on a link.

People like students, older people and those who do not know much about payments are often targeted. When this happens people can lose money feel stressed and not trust systems anymore.

You can avoid UPI fraud by never telling anyone your UPI PIN not clicking on links you do not know and checking to make sure calls are really from people. Being aware and careful is really important when you use payment platforms like UPI. UPI is something we all use so we need to be careful, with UPI to stay safe.
